

Weights and Measures Practical and Oral Information

Due to some enquiries received some clarification has been issued regarding the weights and measures practical and oral examinations.

It should be noted that candidates can be examined on any equipment, listed in the weights and measures portfolio, as part of their practical and oral exams. Experience with these pieces of equipment will be beneficial.

Where updates have occurred to specifications, candidates should always ensure they are up to date on these changes and answer to the latest information. The examiner will accept the previous requirements, but this may not attract as many marks. Being able to demonstrate you have knowledge of the changes will benefit you when sitting exams.
