

Senior Metrology Officer - salary £38,223 - £43,421

We are currently recruiting for an exciting position within our Trading Standards Service for a Senior Metrology Officer to work at Lancashire County Council.

Our Metrology Team within the Trading Standards Service is a specialised team which is comprised from multidisciplinary experts including food standards and animal health/agriculture – we provide essential statutory services to a variety of internal and external stakeholders. Our role is to advise, guide and encourage legal compliance, with enforcement, when necessary, to protect both the businesses and consumers within Lancashire. We are excited to welcome a Senior Metrology Officer to add further value to our team and with this rare opportunity, we're also happy to consider job share for the right candidate who has an interest in joining us.

Benefits: There's fabulous flexibility and the opportunity to create the work life balance you'll love with up to 32 days annual leave plus bank holidays, 2 days at Christmas and then an additional 20 days that can be purchased too – we also have a generous local authority pension with shared AVC's available, and a benefits package that will exceed your expectations, from a 24/7 Employee Assistance Program, Vivup benefits platform, discounts on retail, entertainment, EV salary sacrifice car and electronics scheme, plus much more which are available to view on the LCC Website.

Please ensure you have uploaded and attached your supporting statement to evidence how you meet the criteria for the role. The panel may be unable to shortlist you for interview without this evidence.
