Join the Office of Fair Trading on the beautiful Isle of Man

We are looking for an experienced and motivated Trading Standards Officer to add value to our small team on the Isle of Man, known for its stunning countryside and superb quality of life.

This role will encompass a full range of trading standards activities and be committed to protecting and representing the interests of consumers in our Island community.

Your work will be varied, rewarding and genuinely impactful. You will carry out inspections, investigate and respond to complaints, and work directly with both consumers and traders to promote fair, safe and confident trading across the Island. You will also liaise with a range of manufacturing and retail businesses and support unique events such as the world-famous Isle of Man TT races and Manx Grand Prix, giving you the opportunity to work closely with other Government agencies, both on the Island and in other jurisdictions.

To be successful you will need to be a professionally qualified Trading Standards Officer with solid practical experience.

- We offer a competitive salary of £48,357 to £56,244 and a generous annual leave entitlement of up to 30 days plus 10 public holidays.
- A relocation package of up to £10,000 to get you, your things and your family to the Island.
- Flexible working is offered to support a work/life balance.
- Civil Service Pension Scheme with generous employer contribution rate.
- Access to a diverse range of training and development opportunities.
- Great on-site facilities and free car parking

Closing date for applications: 20 August 2026

The Isle of Man is a truly special place to live and work and our differences make the difference.
