

Should I be a Corporate Affiliate Member ?

Corporate Affiliate Membership is for those businesses who can support and promote the aims, objectives and values of the Institute. Aimed at those who promote good business practices, are genuinely customer focused, empower knowledgeable consumers and staff and enable informed decision making and are part of a modern and vibrant economy.

Corporate Affiliate Membership

CTSI aims are to support, assist, inform and educate businesses and staff involved with regulatory compliance, fair trading practices, consumer protection and more broadly aiming to contribute to economic, environmental, health and social wellbeing. Our members range from full time businesses to aspiring students through to experienced and senior regulatory professionals within businesses and in the public and third sectors. We welcome all businesses, from individuals and small traders, to large national and international enterprises.

Our membership charter and statement of intent is to:

- Uphold the CTSI ethics and values as laid down in the code of conduct
- To develop individual and corporate competencies and business efficiencies
- Promote the exchange of ideas, professional views and lively debate between all members for your mutual benefit
 - Build partnerships and provide a framework for joint working and building better relationships between trading standards professionals and businesses.

Working with Business

The Chartered Trading Standards Institute works with businesses to educate, inform and help empower you and your staff to drive up consumer satisfaction levels and effect operational and financial efficiencies and secure cost savings in your business performance. CTSI supports your aims to achieve better performance in market league tables and business competitiveness.
