

Local Authorities to benefit from practical online legislation guidance

By offering legislative training to your retail business partners, you can now generate additional income.

Working in partnership with Virtual College under the joint 'TradeSimple' brand, CTSI has developed a suite of practical online courses which offer traders jargon free, step-by-step guidance to important legislation.

As a local authority reseller, you will have the benefit of your own branded e-commerce site which can be used to promote the above courses.

This provides a simple way of generating income whilst adding value to your business partnerships.
