Using the LoCTA Hub for an intelligence led approach to Trading Standards investigations

Speakers: Steve Black and Kim Shaw

Demonstrating how using the LoCTA Hub can help Trading Standards investigators from both Local Authorities and the private sector find the information they need to locate both individuals and businesses.

Learning outcomes:

This session will introduce the LoCTA Hub to Trading Standards investigators from both the public and private sector, who have previously been unable to access the wealth of data and information that the Hub contains.

Attendees at this session will leave understanding how to use the individual and batch search facilities, how to set alerts and receive notifications. Delegates will understand how gathering together information from all the different datasets into a Profile will help investigators and teams to share information easily, saving them time and removing duplication of effort.

Using the LoCTA Hub to discover and check aliases, check who pays the Council Tax or Business Rates and know who is registered to vote at an address will help recover more debt and uncover more fraud more easily than ever before.
