2021 CTSI SYMPOSIUM

Aspiring Leaders Training

Date: Tuesday 28 September 2021, 15:05

Speakers: Nikki Pasek MBE and Sue Steward

The last 18 months have shown that leadership skills have never been more important to the Trading Standards profession. Whether you are a current or aspiring leader, our session is designed to demonstrate how you can develop your leadership and management skills.

Developing your leadership potential

'The only thing tougher than developing leadership skills is attempting to be successful without them' Orrin Woodward

The last 18 months has demonstrated that leadership skills have never been more important to the Trading Standards profession.

CTSI and Closha Associates are working together to develop leadership training for Trading Standards professionals, which can help you achieve your future career aspirations.

Whether you are a current or aspiring leader, our session will highlight the ways you can develop your personal leadership and management skills.

Sue Steward and Nikki Pasek MBE will host this session to:

- Consider the key challenges for leadership in Regulatory services
- Provide an insight into our Regulatory Leaders programme and our Aspiring Leaders Programme course.
- Discuss our work with the Institute of Leadership and Management
- Demonstrate the Dimensions of Leadership and how they enable leaders to achieve successful outcomes
 - Authenticity
 - Vision
 - Achievement
 - Ownership
 - Collaboration
- Discuss leadership mentoring and coaching support for Trading Standards professionals

Learning outcomes:

Following this session, you will understand:

- the key challenges for leadership in Regulatory services
- the leadership development courses available to support Trading Standards professionals
- our work with the Institute of Leadership and Management
